Title	Conference: 'The future of traditional societies in Africa: The situation of the Karamoja region of Uganda'
Contents	The conference takes part in the Europe-wide Karamoja campaign that approaches, in an interdisciplinary way, issues of development and sustainability as well as questions of past, current and future relationships and cultural understandings between European and East African societies in the context of globalisation. The conference combines international perspectives on pastoralism with the closer focus on east Africa and especially Karamoja. Karamoja, the specific case we are focusing on, is a crisis region in North-Eastern Uganda, bordering Kenya and Sudan with Ethiopia nearby.  More information
